SYNOPSIS

On his release from the Treemore Correctional Facility for Men, career burglar Karl Plunkett Jr. is determined to make amends for his earlier life of crime. Enlisting the help of younger brother Brian, Karl embarks on a quest for redemption – through the unconventional method of breaking into his former victim's homes and replacing earlier stolen household items with goods of equal value.

DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Breakery is a quirky and fun story with a rather unsettling undercurrent, and one that I take huge pride in bringing to life. Set in an almost parallel New Zealand reality and populated with characters that are overly honest and direct in conversation, it is cheerful and optimistic and foolish and everything a great comedic character should embrace. The story follows Karl and his attempt to make good after years of thievery and general bad behaviour. I tried to capture that simple moment, the enlightenment of Karl which has begun to turn in on itself. It becomes a lighthearted examination of pop culture and fake reality television. Not to get too serious though, it's still a straight comedy with emphasis on well constructed dialogue and actor driven performances.

CREW

Ben Woollen - Director

Ben has been involved with making films for over a decade both behind and in front of the camera. His projects with Chasing Time Productions include a number of short films including the multi award-winning 'Serve and Protect'.

Scott Granville - Writer

Breakery is Scott Granville's latest collaboration with fellow Chasing Time Productions founder, Ben Woollen. Scott has received a number of writing, directing and producing credits and awards for his involvement in film and television productions over the last ten years, as well as being a published author of non-fiction and children's literature.

Chris Tan - Cinematographer

Chris is a talented cinematographer with multiple award winning short films on his resume. He has worked with many up and coming directors and this is first time working with Chasing Time Productions. He is an award winning director in his own right, a creative illustrator and stage actor.

CAST

Roy Snow - Karl Plunkett Jr.

Roy is a household name in New Zealand and a star of both stage and screen. He is most famous for his role in long running NZ soap Shortland street and has had roles in Spartacus, Legend of the Seeker, Outrageous Fortune, Go Girls and Xena. As a stage actor he has had leading roles in The Phantom of the Opera, Hairspray and is currently featuring in Romeo and Juliet.

Brad Arnold - Brian Plunkett

Brad is a handyman currently living in the Waikato. A long time creative and friend, Brad has a natural gift in front on the camera. He has featured in both Pride of Caldwell and Serve and Protect with Chasing Time Productions, with Breakery being his latest film alongside Roy Snow in a leading role.

Sash Nixon - Smooth Ronnie Sanchez

Sash is an Honors Graduate from the University of Waikato, a genre filmmaker, writer and actor. He was presented with a Best Actor award for his Star Wars fan film Hunter, at the 2011 San Diego Comic-Con.
