

The year-long internship

Using real-world experience to mentor students towards a marketable skill set

March: Maadi Regatta

Maadi's miniature oars salesman

June: Fielddays

Garments from Nepal go on sale despite earthquake

September: Aims Games

Cross country titles decided

November: The New Wave

THE NEW WAVE

HAMILTON'S MIGRANT COMMUNITY

37.7833° S, 175.2833° E

Please join us to celebrate the launch of our book,

*The New Wave:
Hamilton's migrant community.*

in the Long Room, The Hub, Wintec city campus.

Date: November 18, 2015

Time: 5.30pm

*Dress: Smart casual, but we'd love to see national dress
Please bring your friends and family*

Student feedback

- Awesome to have work published and even better completing something with your class
 - Taught us interview skills, feature writing, importance of deadlines
 - Taught confidence in talking to another culture
 - Taught us what we could potentially accomplish
- The opportunity to interview, take pics and videos in a controlled environment was very beneficial
 - If you miss the photo opportunity you cannot always go back and redo it
 - Gaining the confidence to approach strangers
 - Learning to go out and find stories

Moderation panel: A cautionary note

“Wintec is moving to a project approach – which is great – but need to be sure to align the marking and reporting of the marking to the project mode. It is good as a component of assessing and learning – good practical to focus on – but it does tend to lead newsgathering in a confined direction.”