The New Wave - Hamilton's Migrant Community

10 September - 19 October 2016

Free entry

Hamilton is a fast growing and increasingly diverse city with citizens from about 160 different communities. Each year the city welcomes more than 1500 new citizens at special ceremonies each month.

The New Wave exhibition reflects on Hamilton's rich diversity by telling the stories of refugees. The exhibition uses a book, photographs, a website, "talking heads" and an interactive display to highlight the depth of the 10 per cent of Hamilton people who hail from somewhere other than New Zealand. The exhibition is the work of tutors and students at Wintec's School of Media Arts in partnership with the Waikato Migrant Resource Centre.
