

In 2007 John Mandelberg (Film Maker) and David Sidwell (Composer) visited Russia (Kazan and Moscow) to further their research into Synaesthesia and Light-Music. The outcome of this research has resulted in the production of an Audio-Video Synaesthetic work:

“Conversation Between Theremin and Soprano”
- Разговор меж терменвоксом и сопрано

Lydia Kavina, great niece of Leon Theremin, and world renowned Russian performer, has travelled from Moscow to perform the Theremin part of the work. Lydia will be joined by instrumentalists;

Soprano: Pamela Wallace
Piano: Alexandra Wiltshire
Cello: Tim Carpenter
Synthesizer: Debbie Nisbet

Following the performance there will be the launch of the book: Soviet Faust, about the life of Russian electronics pioneer Leon Theremin.

SOVIET FAUST

Originally published in Russian in 1995 by Bulat Galejev (1940-2009), has been prepared for the first English language version by John Mandelberg after three and a half years of negotiation with the authors estate. Soviet Faust is published in association with ETT Imprint, Australia and the WINTEC Research Fund.
