

See Page 12 of the 2011 NCLANA Conference programme

Programme at the following URL:

<http://literacyandnumeracyforadults.com/Professional-Development/Conferences/2011-Symposium/Programme>

LEADERSHIP PANEL: Enabling management for making a difference

Room: MSB0.01

Some research has suggested the importance of 'enabling management' in developing pedagogies for adult literacy, numeracy and employability skills. As the journey proceeds to embed adult literacy and numeracy pedagogy into 'business as usual' for providers what role does management play? What does enabling management look like – and what is it like to be such a manager? Is it just a question of leadership? What skills are involved and what is it important to know and to appreciate? This panel session will feature leaders from ITPs sharing their experience and answering questions.

Panel Representatives:

Chair: Peter Waterhouse, Director, National Centre of Literacy and Numeracy for Adults

Mark Smith, Director Academic Literacies, Unitec

Willfred Greyling, Literacy Embedding Manager, Wintec

Annette Aubrey, Literacy and Numeracy Leader, UCOL

David Gough, Dean of Faculty, Health, Humanities and Science, CPIT